Eric Richmond of America Alternative Fuel recently delivered Propane Autogas Installation certificates to Johnny Moody and Gerald Price.

Cherry Energy assists Fred Moody & Sons Garage with Propane Autogas Installation certification.

When Cherry Energy approached owners Johnny and Allen Moody of Fred Moody & Sons Garage, to utilize their shop facilities to convert vehicles to run on propane, the brothers were eager to learn. In fact, they were so eager that they are now certified installers for America Alternative Fuel (AAF).

"The Moody Brothers can do just about anything you need done to a vehicle, we have been working closely with them for about two years on this project," Cherry Energy's Armistead Mauck said.

Eric Richmond with AAF is also pleased. "This is one of the best installation teams I have certified," Richmond said. "Gerald is truly a builder and not simply an installer."

During the week of training, the Moody's Garage team was exposed to nine different vehicle installations.

Propane hybrid vehicles can run on either gasoline or propane. Because it is clean, domestic and economical, propane is a preferred motor fuel. This particular vehicle will have a range of over 700 miles with the combined fuel on board - enough fuel to drive from Jacksonville, Fla., to Washington D.C. without filling.

Fred Moody & Sons Garage, located in Kinston, is a regional truck and automobile service center. Cherry Energy serves Eastern North Carolina with fuels and environmentally friendly energy solutions.
